"I truly believe that Starfall set the foundation for my future." — Sarah, Undergraduate at Stanford University Classroom teachers attribute the success of Starfall to the use of a combination of online activities and printed books. Now Starfall has put together a special offer for parents: The Phonics and Sight Word Book Kit of 21 books. This kit is available at a very low cost and may also be downloaded completely free at Starfall. Since 2002, Starfall has been providing teaching resources including books, movies, songs, and educational games. The printed books are an essential component, especially for learning to read. See Accessibility Information for children with disabilities. Starfall activities are research-based and align with state learning objectives for English language arts and mathematics. Its emphasis on phonemic awareness, systematic sequential phonics, and common sight words in conjunction with audiovisual interactivity is especially effective for teaching emergent readers, children of all ages with special needs or learning difficulties, as well as ELL (ESL) students. It is widely used in schools and homeschools. Starfall's low-cost membership program expands the free content to include additional animated songs, mathematics activities, and reading. Membership supports the production of new books, educational games, and movies.
